The Doctor settled into an easy chair and looked keenly at the Rector. You are taking a good deal of trouble to enlighten me, he said at length. Why not Religion is as much a matter of investigation as medicine. It stands the intellectual test. Do most people realize that asked the Doctor. Maybe not. Many people have the religious instinct and seek the place where religion is presented. But I am sure that many desire to know more of the foundations upon which their religious practices rest. The Judge and the Major entered at that moment and after the usual greetings the four men gathered about the fire. Well, Rector, began the Major, what's the program for tonight The Judge answered. We are to be enlightened on the subject of the Apostles Creed. The Rector looked at the Doctor who nodded assent. Let's have sound doctrine, cautioned the Major smiling. The Doctor was alert in a moment. Before you begin, he said, I should like to say that I have always felt that the Church was too much attached to what the Major calls doctrine. The word makes me nervous. Why couldn't the Church have less doctrine and not puzzle us so much The Rector laughed. What do you mean by doctrine, Doctor he inquired. The Doctor sat for a moment, thinking. Finally he exclaimed, I mean abstruse theological statements set forth on authority, but to be...
