.character of the results made on samples of cement tile collected at random here and there around the state as a basis for scientific investigation. While such tests may be useful to get some idea of the character of the tile now being made, they may vary greatly owing to mistakes or carelessness in manufacture which cannot be made a matter of record. For example, in comparing the different proportions of sand and cement reported in one of the tables, we cannot be sure that the small portions of mortar out of which the individual tile happened to be made were really of the proportions indicated, nor can we be sure that the tile received the same treatment in curing. Hence the only comparison between cement and clay drain tile which we feel warranted in making at this time is in the case of the...
