Not illustrated. 1859 Excerpt: . . . honor of the State by leaving the interest due upon the bonds unpaid. In January, 1843, the general assembly passed an act to place the bank in liquidation. Since then more than thirteen years have elapsed, and it is represented that the affairs of the bank are now so complicated that they cannot be understood, and the whole of the assets ascertained without much labor and a thorough investigation. Deeming it essential to the interest of the State that the affairs of the bank should be thoroughly investigated, the executive, a short time since, caused John H. Crease to commence the work of examination. By a communication from him, dated October 1, 1856, it is believed, you will be fully impressed with the public necessity of having the true condition of the bank ascertained, and the interests of the State connected with it secured as far as possible. The policy of the executive is, to have the assets collected as far as possible, and every dollar faithfully applied towards paying the debts of the bank. To accomplish this, the investigation of the bank is absolutely necessary, and he has directed that it be prosecuted until completed. Although the State has succeeded in establishing and acting upon the sound and commendable policy of receiving for revenue and paying out for expenditures nothing but the constitutional currency of gold and silver, she is still encumbered with a large part of the debt brought upon her by the bad...
