Date :2010-10-01 version 1. China's large-scale construction of shield tunnel late start. but with the economic construction and development of deep underground space development and large cross-section road need to increase the tunnel. shield tunnel has been widely used. and large. extra-long shield tunnel engineering has become a new hot and difficult. The book is divided into six chapters. relying on the world's largest diameter. extra-long distance. deep in Shanghai Yangtze River Tunnel engineering. closely linked to the larger. long tunnel characteristics. highlighting the large diameter mechanical properties of lining. bending stiffness analysis ; long tunnel leading to the ventilation. exhaust. cooling problems to solve; multi-tunnel disaster prevention system into account; under high pressure waterproof lining the tunnel structure design optimization. and grew up in the whole three-dimensional numerical simulation of dynamic response analysis. Also detailed 1:1 lining testing; spray cooling tunnel testing and research; tunnel full-scale fire test; concrete anti-burst test and fire test of time into research. The book highlights the evolution of the overall design. the optimization process; comparison and selection of the subsystem design; new technologies. new materials. new processes. new equipment is used. It also presents some new ideas and engineering practice. and through the operation of the project after the test. reflecting the construction of good quality. Publication of the book can hope engineers. researchers and provide a good reference for reference help. Contents: Introduction Chapter 1 Summary of the overall layout of the tunnel construction scale and construction scale of 1.2 Tunnel 1.1 overall arrangement of two engineering design engineering technical standards. technical standards for the overall design requirements of 2.1. 2.2 structural design requirements...
