*The best publication i actually study. I actually have study and so i am confident that i am going to likely to study once more yet again later on. You will not sense monotony at at any moment of your respective time (that's what catalogs are for relating to if you ask me).

THE WESTERN ANTIQUARY, VOL. 11: OR, DEVON AND CORNWALL NOTE-BOOK (CLASSIC REPRINT)

Forgotten Books. Paperback. Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. 240 pages. Dimensions: 9.0in. x 6.0in. x 0.5in. Excerpt from The Western Antiquary, Vol. 11: Or, Devon and Cornwall Note-Book A Few forewords only are necessary on the present occasion, to chronicle the completion of another volume of the Western Antiquary and to lay down my plans for the future. My readers will, I am sure, be more interested and instructed in perusing the excellent and thoughtful article of my friend and co-worker, Mr. Alfred Robbins (which forms the Introduction to this volume), than in considering any words of apology or explanation that I may have to offer. Various circumstances have combined, during the past twelve months, to frustrate my good intentions as to the more regular and punctual delivery of the various numbers of this Journal; and unfortunately for my Subscribers as well as for myself, the number of my helpers has sadly diminished. Death, removal, and pressure of other matters upon their time and attention, have thinned the ranks of those who supported me in the early years of the career of the Western Antiquary, and I regret to own, the gaps have not been adequately filled by the proffered services of others. I have thus been heavily handicapped in my efforts, and have experienced a difficulty at times in finding sufficient material, of the right kind, to fill up the various numbers. These and other circumstances, have convinced me that the time has come for a re-arrangement of my plans, and to some extent of a re-modelling of the Journal itself; for I am loth to believe that the necessity for such a repository of old-world lore has ceased to exist, knowing as I do what wealth of material there is in the district: and being firmly persuaded...
