This item is printed on demand - Print on Demand Neuware - Essay from the year 2003 in the subject Politics - International Politics - Topic: European Union, grade: 9 of 10, The Hague University (The Hague School of European Studies), course: European Regional Policy, 8 entries in the bibliography, language: English, comment: This Essay discusses the following statement: 'The Committee of the Regions is an undemocratic, talking workshop, designed to give the impression of consultation and decentralisation and to give failed politicians and ideas a resting home!' , abstract: The 222 members of the Committee of the Regions are not directly elected by the people. The Council appoints them for a four year term on proposal of the member states.<sup>4</sup>Each member state itself decides how to choose the representatives in the CoR: Some of the countries, like Germany, Austria and, to a certain extent, Spain, leave this matter to the regions and the municipalities themselves.<sup>5</sup>One example, how the representatives can be elected, is to be seen in the German region (Land) Schleswig-Holstein. Like in every German Land, the Landtag, the directly elected regional parliament, decides about the representative in the CoR. In 2001, the members of the parliament voted for minister-president Heide Simonis.<sup>6</sup>So, the directly elected members of the parliament decided who should represent the people's interest on the European level. Indirectly, everybody had an influence on the decision by taking part on the regional election. On the other hand, in some states, like France and the United Kingdom, the national government decides about the members of the Committee of the Regions.<sup>7</sup>In the United Kingdom, the Foreign Office co-ordinates the list of its 24 full and alternate members in the Committee of the Regions. It is able...
