Not illustrated. 1921 Excerpt: .foreign countries, provided they meet the requirements of this State for examination and registration; (4) for a course of instruction of twenty-eight months which will become effective after July 1, 1923, for applicants for examination: (5) for an additional course of eight months, which will be determined by the board. The change pertaining to nurses registered outside of the State has long been desired and will admit nurses who can meet the requirements of California to be registered without examination, irrespective of the law of the State under which they were originally registered. The change in course to twenty-eight months will not in any way lower the standard of instruction or reduce the curriculum; it lessens the amount of practice work and prescribes definitely for certain necessary services, such as experience in the care of sick children. The additional course of eight months is intended for advanced work in any one branch of nursing and can be taken only where there are sufficient facilities. Several schools will be able to give such courses, either in the hospital with which the school is connected or by affiliation. The School of Nursing in Relation to the Hospital. Until recent years schools of nursing have been isolated from participation in general educational movements, which has emphasized this system and has placed the schools at variance with any form of educational work. In the minds of many the school is regarded as an institution of labor, which found expression in...
