Excerpt: . . . CHAPTER XI. SCRIPTURE TESTIMONY TO ABSTINENCE. I 8CEIPTURE LIVES--AN EXAMPLE OP ABSTINENCE. On this great question, the Bible not only discountenances the evil, but it encourages the good. We have seen how it withholds its sanction from intoxicating liquor. We proceed to show how it approves of entire abstinence from it. It does this by living examples. It is remarkable how many of the great men, and distinguished communities, of the Bible, were abstainers, encouraged in this, too, by Gods approbation and blessing. We have touched on this topic before, but it deserves here more special notice. We point then in illustration, to the whole nation of Israel, during their forty years journey through the wilderness. God could as easily have given them wine, as He rained down manna on them from heaven, and caused water to flow to them from the smitten rock. But He did not so. Through all these years, we are told, they drank neither wine nor strong drink. The Lord was ever kind to them, He fed them with angels food, He cherished them with Divine care, but they were a nation of abstainers, trained to be so, all this time, by the only wise God. And mark here the Divine purpose in this procedure. It is thus declared That thou mightest know that I am the Lord your God. Israel was sustained by miracle, that they might know ttle Lord to be a God of power. Israel drank...
