Excerpt from The American Monthly Microscopical Journal, Vol. 8: January, 1887 Dr. V. C. Vaughan, of Michigan, presented at the meeting of its Board of Health in October, 1886, a report upon the present status of the tyrotoxic question. He shows that the various picnic and hotel cases of gastro-intestina irritation were due to the use of milk in some form, all other possible sources having been eliminated. It was learned that in one case the milk was milked at noon and placed while hot in cans and carted eight miles during the hottest part of the day, and delivered in the evening. Milk is usually cooled in vessels surrounded by very cold water for 8 to 12 hours before transportation. Examination of milk like that which had caused illness by chemical treatment revealed the presence of a substance which produced a burning sensation upon the tongue, and when administered to a cat caused retching and vomiting and collapse, followed by recovery. The conclusion was that the illness was due to tyro toxicon, the product of a fermentive change in the milk, due to improper management of the same. He traces a connection between tyrotoxic and cholera-infantum. The death of the distinguished physiologist, Paul Bert, occurred during last Novem ber, in the s4th year of his age.
