Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from Language Lessons, Vol. 1 The text guides the thought; the pictures stimulate the imagination. In this way pictures and text work harmoniously together. The natural result is the development of such an interest in the subject-matter of composition, that its painful features quite disappear. From drudgery, they are transformed into pleasant work, gladly undertaken because of the interest in the subject. By this use of pictures, therefore, a more effective appeal is made to the mind of the child, for it is guided not only by words, but also by pictorial illustration showing the progress of the thought. Though this plan has heretofore sometimes been applied to single lessons, it is here made a principle of illustration; pictures consequently become an organic part of the language lessons, not a mere unrelated incident. To a large extent the subject-matter for composition lessons is independent of necessary sequence. For this reason, the teacher may freely adapt it to the exigencies of the program. Thus, in the nature work, if the bee is the object of study, it is better to write the composition for that day upon the bee, rather than upon the elephant, though the latter topic may stand next in the book. By utilizing the index provided at the close of the volume, the teacher may easily make any desirable correlation between the Composition Exercises and other studies. The sequence of lessons in the Sentence Exercises, however, is, in general, a necessary one, so that they should be studied in the order given.
