

The Apollo 13 Mission: Core Events of a Crisis in Space

By Cassandra Radomski

FACT FINDERS, United States, 2014. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 216 x 190 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book. During the 1960s, humans were finally able to explore the universe beyond Earth. But at what cost? Many people lost their lives in a race to go where humans had never gone before. Find out what happened when an explosion on a spacecraft left three U.S. astronauts stranded in space 200,000 miles (321,869 kilometers) from Earth. With a limited supply of food, water, and oxygen, would they make it back to Earth alive?.
