Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Eight Annual Report of the State Inspector of Mines, to the Governor of the State of Ohio: For the Year 1882 Mr. Klein reassumed duty on the 1st of June, since which time he has been constantly engaged in visiting and inspecting the mines of the State, calling attention to any violation of the law on the part of mining superintendents, mining Operators and miners. Nearly all the mines in the State have been visited and inspected during the year, some of them a number of times. Mr. Klein has been indefatigable in the discharge of his duty. When not otherwise engaged in office work, I have been constantly in the coal field during the year, inspecting mines and making suggestions as to improvements in mining and ventilation, and it affords me pleasure to record the fact that year after year more approved methods of working and ventilating mines are being adopted. A large proportion of the mines in the State may be said to have now reached systematic perfection in ventilation and general security. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes...
