But what often happens is that they can no longer keep that knowledge, that message, inside of them. When the stress becomes too much for the size of the bud, there is no other choice but to let go and allow the expansion of what no longer wishes to be kept hidden. Anais Nin says it best: And the day came when the risk to remain tight in a bud was more painful than the risk it took to blossom. This is often, and not unlikely in every case, when the Maya Angelous, the Oprah Winfreys, the Arthur Millers, the Steven Spielbergs, the Johann Sebastian Bachs, or those who run for the high-profile elected offices can no longer play small, as the message of what s buried inside of them, needs to be shared with the world! And the sooner the better! Oh, the beauty of...
