ASEAN 2.0: ICT, Governance and Community in Southeast Asia (Paperback)

By Emmanuel Lallana

Institute of Southeast Asian Studies, Singapore, 2011. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book. This study argues that the extensive use of Information and Communications Technology (ICT) by the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN) would: (1) enhance policy coordination within the intergovernmental organisation; (2) promote inclusive regionalism by providing new avenues for broader stakeholder participation in regional affairs; (3) help develop a stronger regional identity, particularly among the young; and (4) improve network management or coordination of the collaborative activities of the member states. But this study is not merely about making ASEAN more effective. By looking at how ICT - with its ability to overcome distance and time - could be a tool for enabling effective non-state actors in regional rulemaking, it also contributes to the literature on Global eGovernance.
