Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Education at the Centennial: Extracts From the Proceedings of the Department of Superintendence of the National Educational Association, at Its Meeting in Washington, January 27 and 28, 1875 So much been published concerning the Centennial Exposition to be held at the city of Philadelphia in 1876, that no statement of its design or account of what is purposed to be done seems now necessary. A brief outline of the progress made in the work of preparation, however, and of the prospects entertained of its successful completion, may be of interest, and will serve as an introduction to the special purpose of this paper, which is, to make some practical suggestions in reference to the representation of the schools and school-systems of the country at the exposition. The exposition will he held. Whether it shall be creditable to the nation or otherwise, we must go on with the work. To stop, to even halt, now, would be to disgrace ourselves in the eyes of the whole world. American energy and pluck have accomplished marvelous things in...
