

Treachery by Order

By Frank Linter

Arthur H. Stockwell Ltd. Paperback. Book Condition: new. BRAND NEW, Treachery by Order, Frank Linter, Ralph Thompson is English, and lives with his German wife, Eva, in Berlin, where he is a professor of maths at Berlin University. Eva, a once renowned opera singer, married Ralph after the First World War, when they met in Oxford, while she was singing in La Traviata. Their daughter, Helga, was born in 1923. She was protected and nurtured, knowing only maths, music and harmony, and at seventeen she goes to the university to study maths. The outbreak of the Second World War brings hardships, then one night her life is changed for ever and the powers that be decide to put her through a course. What sort of course? Some of the course involves typing and office work, which will come in useful in her new career, and some of the course involves driving on the 'wrong' side of the road and generally 'being English'. She agrees on the understanding that her parents are looked after, and letter to them from her will be forwarded. Maybe it will turn out for the better after all.
