Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The Book of the Pleasant Legends: Thoughtful Hours, and Tender Melodies, Secular and Scared, Being a Collection of Choice Selections We had occasion recently to visit one of the most beautiful sections of Pennsylvania, where mountain, valley, and stream combine to create the various types of landscape so necessary to the development of the poetical element in mans nature, and, while enjoying the peaceful quietude of a retired and unfrequented village, at the hospitable home of the village pastor, we met with a youth, of some eighteen or twenty years, whose history interested us greatly. We learned of him that he was born near the town of Gettysburg, in Adams County, Pennsylvania, if we rightly remember, in the year 1853, but when very young removed with his parents to the mountains in the southwestern part of his native county, where he yet resided at the time of our meeting. As we first saw him entering the pastor s home, there was nothing very noticeable in his appearance. Rustic and unpretending in his manners and bearing, with no apparent effort to cultivate fashion or style, the main thing we observed was that he was a young man of thoughtful mould, earnest heart, clear eye, and an evident fixedness of purpose. Having a roll in his hand, he reminded us somewhat of Bunyan s portraiture of the Pilgrim. From the estimable pastor we learned that he was a youth of uncommon natural abilities, and after having read a short literary production of his, were astonished at learning he was entirely self-taught. Reared in the midst of the friendly forest which yield to his father a scanty support,...
