M E Sharpe Inc. Hardcover. Condition: New. 390 pages. Dimensions: 8.9in. x 6.1in. x 1.2in. Taiwans rapid socio-economic and political transformation has given rise to a gender-conscious middle class that is attempting to redefine the roles of women in society, to restructure relationship patterns, and to organize in groups outside the family unit. This book examines internal psychological processes and external societal processes as the feminist movement in Taiwan expands and new gender roles are explored. The contributors represent a cross section of different disciplines - history, anthropology, and sociology - and different generations of ChinaTaiwan scholars. They place the issues facing Taiwans womens movement in social, political, and economic contexts. The book examines gender relations, the role of women in Chinese society, and issues related to women in China throughout history. Feminism and gender relations are also viewed from the context of film and literature. The authors look at the contemporary roles that women play in Taiwans work force today, how the sexes perceive each other in the workplace, and more. This item ships from multiple locations.
