Createspace. Paperback. Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. 322 pages. Dimensions: 9.0in. x 6.0in. x 0.7in. Was there really a Thomas Shitbum in Addiewell, who made the village idiot look bright by comparison Did Thumbs McGushin, who lost both thumbs in pit accidents, really ever say that he was the only man in Stoneyburn who could hook his thumbs into his waistcoat pockets and comb his hair at the same time I am totally convinced there was a Tam the Bam who could get a shilling at anybodies door Ive known his like - and, if there never was a Glascae Maggie then there should have been. These were the tales related to me by my parents who, by their own admission, would never let the truth get in the way of a good story. My aunty Katie related to me the story of how she was exempt from school and sent into service, kicking and screaming, at the tender age of thirteen. This novel is about the lives of the miners, struggling to survive in the 1920s. My paternal grandfather, Michael McKenna, was evicted from his miners cottage in 1926 for refusing to return to work after the...
