He asked me what it is with balls, why I love them so much. I had a think about that. It is cause they fly. Like birds. I m supposed to chase birds. I m a bird-dog. Course, she won t really let me. It doesn t stop me barking at em and seeing em off from my garden. But it isn t the same. Somewhere, deep inside, I know what I am supposed to do, what I am supposed to be. But I can t be that for some reason. things aren t quite set up right for me to chase birds all day and bring them back to her. On the other hand, that s who I am, and you can t be anything else than that. so the balls let me be myself in a world where I can t catch birds all day. She says that s not unusual. She seems to think that we all know who we really are, deep down, and that we spend all our time trying to find a way to be that in a world that doesn t quite seem to fit. We either find other stuff to express it, like balls. Or we try and be what others think we should be. But you can t be a terrier if you are a retriever, can you? A bit like asking a fish to climb trees. It can be done, but it isn t easy! Ani, a very familiar spirit, was named for one of the ancient gods. It should, I suppose, have been no surprise when she took over the keyboard and began to write. A year later she...
