

Windows/Walls/Yard/Ways: Poems

By Larry EIGNER

Black Sparrow Press/David R. Godine, 1994. Soft cover. Condition: New. 196pp. [In stock in Australia now, for immediate delivery]. Larry Eigner is a poet whose spare, dense and impassioned poetry carries on the tradition of William Carlos Williams. This particular book of his poetry, Windows/Walls/Yard/Ways collects 322 poems written between 1959 and 1992. The author almost exclusively chose the selections, and the arrangement is largely chronological. About 88 of these poems were written while the author resided in Massachusetts between 1959 and 1978, and the majority of them were written between 1979 and 1992, following the author's move to California. In a note on the text, the collection is categorised as 'eastern' poetry, possibly regarding Massachusetts, the author's long-time home. 'There is no writing I know as vivid as Larry Eigner's. He's invented, for poetry, something equivalent to three-dimensional photography: his works present a series of perceptions etched deep into the mind, where the mind is charted on a page and the page becomes a model of the thinking field. Perception and thought (words and things) are completely intertwined in Eigner's work, which brings to a visionary crescendo the exploration of the ordinary - the transient flickerings of the...

READ ONLINE
[2.42 MB]

Reviews

Complete information for ebook fans. It is actually full of knowledge and wisdom I am pleased to inform you that this is basically the very best pdf we have read through inside my very own daily life and can be he very best ebook for ever.

-- Gideon Morissette

This is basically the very best publication i actually have go through until now. It really is loaded with knowledge and wisdom I realized this publication from my i and dad encouraged this publication to discover.

-- Bryana Klocko III