To implement the insights in the book, it includes a Self-Administered 360-Degree Assessment (c). This story follows the senior team at Collier Energy, a fictional company that is fast becoming a major player in the nascent industry of solar power. Yet while the company is on the brink of success, one major obstacle remains; its dysfunctional team of seven talented executives. Each one is struggling with personal and professional blind spots. As tensions threaten to derail the company's momentum, the CEO makes a surprising choice that will revolutionize how the team sees each other and themselves.
