

Sources of Interest in High School English

By Charles Edward Jones

RareBooksClub. Paperback. Book Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. Paperback. 28 pages. Dimensions: 9.7in. x 7.4in. x 0.1in. This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text. Purchasers can usually download a free scanned copy of the original book (without typos) from the publisher. Not indexed. Not illustrated. 1912 edition. Excerpt: . . . is not true of classics. Those who have read moderately have a wider range and give more intelligent opinions. In the earlier years girls prefer plots emphasizing patience; and many speak of some favorite novel as deep and mysterious; while boys look for action, at first physical and later moral. A large amount of cheap literature seems to paralyze and deaden opinion. Juvenile Fiction. --Girls read less juvenile fiction than boys do. Their line is continuously downward, and at the end of the third year they have practically finished. Boys seem to read more in the second than in the first year. This is, however, misleading and due to the second city, where the boys evidently had just heard of Barbours books and proceeded to make up for what they missed before. No attempt was made to separate good juvenile books from poor books....

READ ONLINE
[2.98 MB]

Reviews

This pdf is amazing. I actually have read and i also am sure that i am going to planning to read once more yet again in the foreseeable future. Your lifestyle period will probably be convert once you total looking at this publication.

-- Ms. Aileen Larkin

A top quality publication and also the font employed was interesting to learn. It is really simplistic but excitement within the fifty percent from the book. Its been designed in an remarkably basic way in fact it is only following i finished reading this pdf where in fact changed me, modify the way i believe.

-- Rachel Stiedemann