Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Americanization in Chicago: The Report of a Survey Americanism begins at home. The basis of a sound society is found in a healthy and congenial community life. In the Americanization Survey of Chicago, studies have been made: (a) Of the population of Chicago - its cosmopolitan character; (b) Of forces which make for development of class-consciousness, inter-class suspicion and hatred; (c) Of forces which make for mutual understanding, good-will and harmony. Population of Chicago The population of Chicago classified according to nativity is made up of 44 of people of English speaking parentage (of whom at present estimates of 4 are negroes) and 56 of foreign language groups. The details are shown on pages 5-7. These various groups are found mingled to some extent in every ward of the city. The Polish, the Bohemians, the Russian Jews, the Italians, the Lithuanians, and the Negroes, have large segregated districts. These districts and their character are described on pages 8-13. Anti-Social Forces There are three schools of ultra-radicals - Anarchists, Communists, and Syndicalists. What they stand for and the methods they use in spreading their propaganda are set forth on pages 13-15. The number of people actually belonging to these organisations is small, but their poisonous influence may often be far reaching. The character of this influence and its utter falseness are explained on pages 15-18. Some other radicals, not so extreme in their teachings, but more numerous, are mentioned on pages 15-19. Constructive Social Forces The constructive work of Americanisation agencies reaches only a small percentage of our population - less than 8 of our unnaturalized population being reached at all by such agencies. The Americanisation...
