Not illustrated. 1890 Excerpt: .latter; and then, if you will permit a liberal--a Biblical--application of the term, we have to consider moral clothing and moral cleanliness, not only of the pupils of reform schools, but of the officers and teachers as well. It appears to your speaker that there can be nothing too good for a soul, which the Master Reformer declared to be of more value than the whole world, that the clothing for and the surrounding of the soul and body for which he gave the infinite price of his own life should be such as to elevate and ennoble and refine it. In our efforts at economy, are we not very liable to forget the estimate Christ placed upon the body as well as upon the soul? Do not children drink in forms and habits of thought and mode of expression and bearing of person from those...
