The impression given is, in truth, that the calamity was of such intensity and magnitude as to have been really unmanageable. While for example the daily burials by the Police at Agra are reported to average nearly 400, numerous observers draw attention to the profusion of bodies near the River, and along the Roads. I annex below a General Order which gives a painful stamp of reality to like descriptions from Cawnpore, and in the Appendix will be found details from Futtighur confirming the same mournful conclusions. The Official Reports of Settlement Officers abound with references to the devastation and waste of life of which they had incontestable proofs in the course of their duties in the interiors of Districts. Of Etawah Mr. Martin Gubbins writes in 1841-- That the population has been very sensibly reduced by death is abundantly evident from the still deserted houses and abandoned lands, as well as from the general fall of rents throughout the District. This latter fact sufficiently indicates the competition, not of cultivators for land, but of landholders for cultivators, and it will no doubt require the lapse of many years to replace the population that has been swept away. Of the other bad Districts like evidence might be produced, but it is needless to give more than samples of such results. The general mortality cannot of course be known now with any approach to precision, but I doubt if it were less throughout the entire...
