Excerpt from The Plays of Euripides, Vol. 1: Hippolytus; Trojan Women; Bacchae The scene represent the front of the royal castle of Trozn, the chief door being in the centre, facing the audience. Two statues are visible, that of Artemis on the right, that of Aphrodite or Cypris on the left. The goddess Aphrodite is discovered alone. Aphrodite. Great among men, and not unnamed am I, The Cyprian, in Gods inmost halls on high. And wheresoer from Pontus to the far Red West men dwell, and see the glad day-star, And worship Me, the pious heart I bless, And wreck that life that lives in stubbornness. For that there is, even in a great Gods mind, That hungereth for the praise of human kind. So runs my word; and soon the very deed Shall follow. For this Prince of Theseus seed, Hippolytus, child of that dead Amazon, And reared by saintly Pittheus in his own Strait ways, hath dared, alone of all Trozen, To hold me least of spirits and most mean, And spurn my spell and seeks no womans kiss. But great Apollos sister, Artemis,...
