By American Library Association

Forgotten Books, 2015. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from Bulletin of the American Library Association, Vol. 6: January-November, 1912 It is probably true in this group of educational schemes, as it is probably true of a like group in any city, that each individual institution is active and progressive, finding that its work is growing and its field extending year after year and in constant need of larger appropriations. Such an institution left by itself becomes a working center, and when it finds new work, which needs to be done that is more or less akin to its own, it opens a new department without knowing or inquiring as to whether that field is not already cared for. The board of control of each of these activities is a law unto itself so far as its field of work is concerned, and for the most part each does its work with little definite knowledge of what other boards are doing or planning. To continue to use Buffalo as an illustration, three of its institutions have lecture courses without any affiliation or cooperation; the circulating library is called upon to collect material...
