

School Choice: Doing It the Right Way Makes a Difference: A Report from the National Working Commission on Choice in K-12 Education (Paperback)

By Brown Center on Education Policy

BROOKINGS INSTITUTION, United States, 2004. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book. In going about its work, the commission reviewed the possible effects of school choice in light of the core value of public education: that all children should be thoroughly educated, so that they may pursue their own dreams and contribute to a democratic, egalitarian, and prosperous American society. Drawing from that premise, the commission explored choice in terms of four key issues: benefits to children whose parents choose new schools; benefits to children whose families do not exercise choice; effects on the national commitment to equal opportunity and school desegregation; and advancement of social cohesion and common democratic values.
