Excerpt: .came in contact, although of course their relations had as a rule to be only such as could be countenanced between a commissioned officer and a non-commissioned one. Finally his chance came, when he saw Tom making the rounds of that sector of the trench; and after saluting, as required by army regulations, and being spoken to by Tom, Mart purposely allowed his bandaged arm to be discovered. Just as he expected Tom gave a low exclamation. Then you did get up against it last night in that trench raid, Mart? he observed, intensely interested. I heard of your terse report to the commanding officer, and that your patrol had brought in two prisoners. He also informed me that you had carried a wounded companion most of the way on your back. The major was full of praise for your grit, and let me tell you it made me feel proud. He insisted that I go along with the poor chap to the hospital, and so I sat beside the driver of the ambulance, Mart went on to explain. Well, I was glad after all I had gone, because the nurse who bound up my arm like this turned out to be a dear friend of mine. Not Lucille, Mart? cried Tom, his face lightirg up with eagerness. Just who it was, Lieutenant, came the quick answer. She wants to see you right away, and I ve got to get permission to return this...
