Createspace Independent Publishing Platform, 2017. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .We fill out paperwork for school, work, medical exams and loans. Our possessions are protected by insurance policies, alarms, burglar bars, bolt locks, dogs, fences, motion-sensors and firearms. But when was the last time we filled out paperwork to protect our hearts? The heart is left wide open and defenseless. People who mean us no good bypass all of the protection with no questions asked and are able to ruin what we protect. We become like weak fortresses. We have walls up but for what? There are no checkpoints. TSA does a better job at security than we do. People are allowed entrance without proving themselves and we really don't get to know them. We fall for their representatives. We fantasize about these fraudulent people who have sold us dreams that are nonexistent. The idea of love blinds and paralyzes us from asking the right questions. We meet, like, date, fall in love, marry and reproduce off of assumptions. We ignore yellow tape and red flags just to have companionship. The Dating Application is a questionnaire guide. It's the missing piece (or should I say peace) from today's love scene. It is one of the most important applications you'll ever fill out in your entire life. It is filled with in-depth questions we should ask our partners but usually don't. This cycle can be broken by asking more questions and getting the right information about the people we fall for, bare children with, and marry.
