Excerpt from A Treatise on Internal Diseases of the Eyes, Including Diseases of the Iris, Crystalline Lens, Choroid Retina, and Optic Nerve: Based on Theodore J. Rueckert's Clinical Experience in Homeopathy I feel confident, that I have not undertaken an unnecessary labor, in my attempt to furnish a series of manuals upon the diseases of almost every organ of the body. At least, it has happened very frequently to me during the fifteen years, which I have devoted to the study and practice of Homoeopathy, that I have painfully suffered for the want of just such treatises as I am endeavoring to supply. Rackert's pains-taking collection of cases forms the very best basis for them; and to supply the rest I have but to put myself in the position of a faithful observer of nature and an earnest student of the best authorities in medicine. ### Reviews

This publication is really gripping and exciting. It really is basic but unexpected situations in the 50 % in the book. It is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding, once you begin to read the book.

Thorough guideline! Its this type of good read. It is really simplistic but shocks from the 50 percent from the publication. It is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding, once you begin to read the book.
