Forgotten Books, United States, 2018. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from Genius of Universal Emancipation, Vol. 4: June, 1825 Dear Brethren, we view with sympathy and sorrow, the degradation and misery of the slaves - tied up, wounded, beat and bruised, at the will of infuriate tyrants, sometimes till death terminates their sufferings - robbed of the earnings of their labour - of all improvement of mind or body - the children torn from the parents, and parents fieru the children, husbands from wives. And wives from husbands - yea, we View, with horror, the female part of them subjected to brutal lust, without the least degree of legal redress, and even without liberty to use their physical powers for their own defence against their villainous abusers. Still more are our minds agitated, when we know that the great mass of the slaves are made subject to the heinous crime of incest, by their not knowing their blood relations - But disagreeable as our feelings are, on a view of these things, We confess that we are more awfully and solemnly impressed with a deep solicitude in regard to the moral condition of the tyrants themselves.
