Excerpt from Crops and Markets, Vol. 3: May 23, 1925 Cotton exports for April amounted to bales, against bales in March and bales for April 1924. Exports for the season to April 30 ran to bales, against bales for the same period of 1924. Of the March exports for the last two years Germany has taken more American cotton than has Great Britain, with the latter country regaining the lead in April. As usual, most of the exports for the 10 months period were taken by British mills, where conditions have not shown many signs of improving.
