Not illustrated. 1906 Excerpt: .I should be willing, by way of test, that they should send their best speaker down here, --say Wendell Phillips himself; I d like to see him, anyhow. I would assemble my people out there in the grove, and he should speak to them. And when he had finished, I would say to them, You have all heard what this gentleman has to say. Now, if any of you want to go off with him to Yankeedoodledom, just say so, and you shall go without interruption. I ll bet you Sam against the sorriest hand on your plantation that not one of them would stir. You would be a fool for your pains, said Uncle Jack; I would make no such proposition to my people. Then, said my father, rising from his seat, it would appear that my mode of government yields the better result. But...
