There is evidence that beneficiary outcomes are improving under the managed care model which emphasizes coordinating care, preventive benefits, disease management services for chronically ill patients and improving patient outcomes. We will find out from you hopefully whether that is the case. And finally today, we will explore what kind of programs States have adopted through their traditional fee-for-service structure to help improve patient outcomes. Primary care, case management programs have been implemented in a number of States. We have a couple of State representatives with us today to talk a little more about their ideas and how they have worked at the State level. It is my hope that this survey of coordination of care programs will help members of the subcommittee learn more about what types of care coordination strategies work best and how we can apply these lessons as we continue to think about how we can get the most out of our Federal investment and Medicaid. I would like...
