Excerpt from Problems of the Age: Dealing With Religious, Social and Economic Questions and Their Solution; A Study for the Quorums and Classes of the Melchizedek Priesthood We have ceased to look to the Government at Washington as our sole protector. In the city of New York the lives of millions are dependent not upon Congress or upon the president of the United States, but upon the great transportation companies that hourly transport the daily bread of the people. If it be said that state and federal governments may control these transportation companies, it will be admitted that capital is after all the primary power, and the government's only secondary. Some captains of industry have set up a divine right to rule as the stewards of the people's needs. What Mr. Adams here writes was given out before the war. The war emphasizes the weaknesses, vices, and dangers of our national life. As the evils of governments become more pronounced, they invite all opposing forces in opposition to them, and hence we see the menace of capital and labor to the present standards of life. New Problems. - As a result of the present world catastrophe a new order of life will come into being, old institutions will give way to new organizations brought forward to meet the demands of the new age. Our social, industrial, and religious life must undergo pronounced changes in the reconstruction of a new age. It is not easy to establish a new order of things without some preparation, some experience. Has God permitted this debacle to come into the world without some revelation of the needs of the new life to which people will...
