White Eagle Publishing Trust, United Kingdom, 2010. Paperback. Condition: New. Bruce Clarke (illustrator). Language: English . Brand New Book. At risk: one planet. Precarious ecosystem provides possibly unique opportunity for human life. Many resources running out, climate balance changing and likely to change further. Outcome uncertain. Premise: spiritual awareness is transformative. Process: as individuals recognize source of life, empowerment grows. Their own thoughts create both harmony and change. New consciousness restores beauty, brings new values, engenders peace, respect and awareness of the whole of life. Outcome, entire human race embarks on new chapter. This is a remarkable and groundbreaking book. White Eagle s teaching has been changing lives for over seventy years, but not for years has there been quite as important or as timely a collection of his teaching as this one. It represents a blueprint for our individual transformation. White Eagle insists that saving the planet need not be a process of fear and reaction, but one of attunement to the natural process of evolution in human awareness. Our very thoughts influence the thoughts of others; our own attention to beauty actually creates beauty. Real love of nature attacks wastefulness; trust in the natural processes of life removes the fears about life and death that create greed and selfishness. Humanity can and will change. The book also celebrates the harmony of the natural world through the photographs of Bruce Clarke, whose sensitive eye finds beauty in every conceivable situation. White Eagle s wisdom comes from deep connection with the Native American tradition and the timeless Ancient Wisdom. In this book he offers a conscious process of Earth Healing in which every reader can participate. Far from being one of deprivation, it can be one of joy.
