Forgotten Books, United States, 2015. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from The House-Keeper and Farmer s Companion: Or Much Valuable Information for Every Day Use, Given by Friends and Collected Through Various Other Sources The title of this little book, The House-keeper and Farmers Companion; or Much Useful Information for Every Day Use, as indicated on the title page will show the reader, after a careful perusal of its pages, that not only much valuable information, but a lasting benefit, may be derived. It is not the book that contains the most recipes that is the most useful to a person; but the one that contains the most practical recipes. We have made this subject a study for a long while, and have spared neither time nor expense in its preparation. For instance, the recipe for canning fruit in open top jars, gave us no little trouble in getting the correct formula. After getting all the light we could on this subject through many sources, we sent to Philadelphia and purchased a five dollar book, whose title is, A practical Treatise on the Manufacture of Vinegar, Cider, Fruit-wines and the Canning and Evaporation of Fruits, c, which gave us much information. In addition to this book we have a full set of Chamber s Encyclopaedia, ten volumes, from which we have gained a great deal of information in the last seven or eight years, especially on the subject of different kinds of acids. We also have three large, useful recipe books aggregating nineteen hundred and fifty pages, said to contain over one million recipes, calculations, c. We also gave five dollars for one recipe that of making twenty gallons of wine with one bushel of blackberries, or one bushel of...
