Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Mr. Webster s Andover Address and His Political Course While Secretary of State The writer of the remarks which follow was present at the mass meeting in Andover, and heard the address which is designated by the inscription above. He has seen various criticisms in the public journals on the performance in question. With some of these he agrees for substance in opinion, while from others he feels himself obliged widely to dissent. In respect to those criticisms, (if they may be so called), which exhibit merely the feelings of party violence and rancour, he has little or nothing to say; as they are not founded on any sober inquiry into the merits of Mr. Webster s performance, much less on any aesthetical principles of judgment and decision, they do not demand, for the present purposes of the writer of these remarks, any distinctive notice or recognition. In what way, indeed, will any thinking and judicious man undertake to refute mere railing accusations? Will he make use of argument? No argument, nor even demonstration, would have any weight with the authors of such accusations. Their decisions proceed merely from violence of feeling and party bitterness. How can this be controlled by argumentative criticism? The truth is, that the greater a man s merits are who is opposed to their views, and the more distinguished his performance is, the more do they rail, and the more severe is their sentence of condemnation. It would be a hopeless task to oppose candid reasoning and fair argument to criticisms of this cast. One could only revile again in return for reviling, an undertaking in which, on grounds of...
