What the Market Teaches Us: Limitations of Knowing and Tactics for Doing (Hardback)

By Charles W. Smith

Oxford University Press, United Kingdom, 2015. Hardback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book. Rather than attempting to explain and predict how the Market functions - a futile endeavor - this book focuses upon the rich teachings that the market offers us for dealing with ambiguities and unexpected and contradictory happenings. These teachings are not intended to master the market, but to sensitize us to the various types of uncertainty that the market and life in general present. Drawing upon years of participant-observation research the book explores the ways people have traditionally tried to make sense out of the inconsistencies and general fickleness of the market. The various market narratives generated by these efforts normally function only to deny the inconsistencies confronted not resolve them. Various market routines are similarly explored and shown only to insulate participants from these market inconsistencies and related unexpected happenings. While both coping practices commonly serve to calm us by denying and insulating us from these uncertainties, they seldom if ever actually resolve them. Fortunately, the market suggests another, less acknowledged coping practice, namely acting sensibly. In this shift from knowing to doing, the book explores practices employed in wrestling with the underlying causal...
