Excerpt from The Journal of Jeffery Amherst: Recording the Military Career of General Amherst in America From 1758 to 1763 An interesting feature of Amherst s Journal is the great variety of details which it records. He takes time to inter spere among the more important enterprises of his campaign such incidents as, the hanging of a deserter, the scalpn Of a sentry, notes on topography, unusual natural phenomena, rec ords Of visits to towns and hamlets, friendly calls on both humble and distinguished citizens, exchange of ?ags of truce, sending Of despatches, the health Of the regiments, homesickness among his troops and the making of spruce beer. Following a detailed order to one Of the military Governors there will appear an expression Of his personal grief over the loss Of a valiant junior Officer; jostling a despatch to London, or plans for the siege of an enemy fortification, one will encounter spicy comments on the lack Of judgment, enterprise or some other practical virtue among his Officers or men, and emphatic private judgments on a great variety of subjects. Altogether it is a unique document, and amid the crowding details there emerges Amherst himself, perhaps over cautious and deliberate, certainly nothing of the dashing commander, but at any rate a competent general, who knew what he was about and how to go about it, who was everywhere and always himself, certain Of his plans and confident in his Opinions.
