Excerpt from Travels During the Years 1787, 1788, and 1789, Vol. 1: Undertaken More Particularly With a View of Ascertaining the Cultivation, Wealth, Resources, and National Prosperity of the Kingdom of France One circumstance I may be allowed to mention, because it will shew, that Whatever faults the ensuing pages contain, they do not flow from any presumptive expectation of success a feeling that belongs to writers only, much more popular than myself when the publisher agreed to run the hazard of printing these papers, and some progress being made in the journal, the whole ms. Was put into the compositor's hand to be examined, if there were a deficiency for a volume of sixty sheets he found enough prepared for the press to fill 140 and I assure the reader, that the successive employment of striking out and mutilating more than the half of what I had written, was executed with more indifference than regret, even though it obliged me to exclude several chapters, upon which I had taken considerable pains. The publisher would have printed the whole but...
