Graham Greene

By Peter MUDFORD.

Northcote House, Tavistock, 1996. Paperback. Condition: New. 1st Edition. 80pp Writers & Their Work Series [In stock in Australia now for immediate despatch] Graham Greene is among the major creative talents of our time. This study concentrates on his achievements as a novelist whose work spanned more than 60 years, and was translated into 40 languages. As skilful in writing with humour as with seriousness, he combined the gifts of a superb story-teller with the power to analyse the political ills and human dilemmas of an age of anxiety. As a writer who 'happened to be a Catholic', he also reflected the problem of faith and belief in a time of persistent violence. This study describes his vision of the 20th century, and his evolving dedication to his craft as a writer of fiction. Peter Mudford is Reader in Modern English at Birkbeck College, University of London. He has taught Modern Literature in a number of countries including India and the USA.
