

A Sermon, Preached to the Bowdoin Street Congregational Society, Boston: On Closing Their House of May Worship, May 4, 1862 (Classic Reprint)

By Nehemiah Adams

Forgotten Books, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from A Sermon, Preached to the Bowdoin Street Congregational Society, Boston: On Closing Their House of May Worship, May 4, 1862 Every glad sight and joyous sound seems but a pall and knell to remembered blessings. He says with him who wrote the Lamentations: He hath hedged me about, that I cannot get out. He hath inclosed my ways with hewn stone. Mine eye trickleth down, and if ceaseth not, without any intermission. Or with Hezekiah: I said in the cutting off of my days, I shall go to the gates of the grave. Mine age is departed, and is removed from me as a shepherd's tent. Or David: I am tossed up and down as the locust; and with Job: So am I made to possess months of vanity, and wearisome nights are appointed unto me. It would be vain and would seem like mockery to say, Remember what health you have enjoyed, and be quiet. Such remembrance aggravates the pain. But the same thing can be expressed with a different look and tone,...

READ ONLINE
[7.31 MB]

Reviews

The very best publication i possibly read. it was writtern very perfectly and useful. Once you begin to read the book, it is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding.

-- Wilhelm Predovic

This ebook is fantastic. It is probably the most awesome book i actually have read. I found out this ebook from my i and dad suggested this book to understand.

-- Ethel Mills