Not illustrated. 1905 Excerpt: . acquiring his preliminary education, young Edwards studied one year in the literary department of Smithson College, at Logansport, Indiana, and during the following two years taught school in his home district, having passed the examination for teacher s certificate while pursuing collegiate study. In 1874 he entered the literary department of the University of Indiana, at Bloomington, where he remained two years, and then taught school again for some time, after which, in May, 1880, he entered the office of Doctors Ward and Brenton, at Peru, Indiana, where he spent one year pursuing medical study. In October, 1881, he entered the department of medicine and surgery of the University of Michigan, where he received the degree of Doctor of Medicine in 1884. On May 1, 1884, he accepted the position of Acting Assistant Physician in the Michigan Asylum for the Insane at Kalamazoo, and in August of that year was promoted to the Assistant Physiciancy, which position he held until June 1, 1891, when he was appointed Medical Superintendent of the Asylum. Thus it will be seen that the doctor s service to the institution covered a-period of twenty-five years. The editor has known Doctor Edwards since his college days, and has watched with pleasure his advancement from Acting Assistant Physician to Medical Superintendent, and to high rank in the profession. He was a man of natural endowments and broad culture, the former a birthright from ancestry noted for patriotism and intelligence, and the latter...
