A partner may render the firm liable for a loan for his expenses, while engaged in the partnership business, or for a purchase of goods such as the firm trades in, but which he uses in his own benefit; but when a man takes a security from one partner in the name of the partnership, in a transaction not in the usual course of dealing, he takes such a security at his peril. 170. A partner has power to bind the firm by a guarantee in a matter relating to the partnership, but not in one in which the partnership had no concern:1 yet, if the firm adopt such a guarantee, they will be bound, although the guarantee may have been given out of the regular line of their business. It is...
