*Thorough guideline! Its this type of good read. It is really simplistic but shocks from the 50 percent from the publication. It is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding, once you begin to read the book.

An interesting exhibit was made by Mr. Davenport of test pieces of southern yellow pine and Norway pine which had been tested as to tension on the United States standard testing machine at Watertown, and also a number of similar pieces which had been tested by Prof. Thurston's torsion testing machine. The object of the tests was to determine if possible the relative merits of the two woods for use in car construction. The tests showed differences of about 30 per cent, in favor of the northern or Norway pine for car work, while the resinous character of the southern pine rendered it better for heavy timbers for bridge work. A curious fact was quoted in regard to the action of the two woods in the planing machine. The shavings from the southern pine crumbled under the fingers, while those from the Norway pine presented a decided fibre, showing it better calculated to resist tension or torsional strains. One of the most important papers read before the Master Car-Builders was that referring to standard screw threads. Much advance has been made towards the adoption of the Franklin Institute system of threads, which presents many advantages over either the V-shaped or the Whitworth thread. The adoption of this system by all roads would render minor car repairs much cheaper, and would simplify the labor of the Purchasing Agent. On many roads there are not facilities for making bolts to as...
