Excerpt from Federal Lands Management and Policies: Oversight Hearing Before the Committee on Resources, House of Representatives, One Hundred Fourth Congress, Second Session, on the Effects of Federal Management, Control, and Policies on Federal Forests in the Western States and Alasaka; April 18, 1996 Congress should set up a process for transferring the lands which includes the criteria of eligibility for transfer, allowing as much ?exibility as possible for the State management, and identifying which lands should remain in Federal ownership. And finally, I believe that Oregon has done an excellent job man aging its own State lands and will provide many of the benefits currently provided under Federal management. In Oregon, we have taken a very sensitive approach to managing for the environment while still generating jobs and the timber necessary for our local economy. Recently, the State of Oregon signed a Habitat Conserva tion Plan for our Elliott State Forest which allows us to take care of threatened and endangered species while still being able to log timber thanks to the Federal Fish and Wildlife Agency agreeing with our model there in Oregon. I appreciate the opportunity. Thank you, Mr. Chair, and Members. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
