J. Res, 120 August 4, 1994 The subcommittee met, pursuant to notice, at 2:04 p.m., in room SD-226, Dirksen Senate Office Building, Hon. Paul Simon (chairman of the subcommittee), presiding. Opening Statement of Hon. Paul Simon, A U.S. Senator from The States of Illinois Senator Simon. The subcommittee hearing will come to order. We are holding a subcommittee hearing on the question of retroactive taxes and whether there should be a constitutional amendment or some other mechanism for dealing with that. We are holding the hearing at the request of our colleague from Georgia, Senator Paul Coverdell, and we have had through the years a number of examples of where we have had retroactive taxes. I am eager to hear what is said here today. I guess my own feeling is, in general, it is unwise to have retroactive taxes, but whether we should put it into the Constitution is something that I have to be persuaded about. We had two examples of that in the tax bill that we passed this past year. In the 1986 tax bill - and I cast one of three votes in the Senate against the 1986 tax bill - we, among other things, took away some tax shelters that we had had before, tax shelters for, among other things, commercial real estate development and for residential development. I was opposed to the tax shelter for commercial development when it was created. But once you create the shelter, it seems to me it...
